If you're someone who doesn't really have time to spend all day watching Netflix, this is a great way to spend a few minutes.

I really like that you can set different time zones based on the season, so I can watch the last hour of the week at different times without having to change the time zone.

And if you're not sure how to spend your money, you can buy this gift card so you can pay off the bills right away, because you don't have to worry about spending it at a store.

You are one in a thousand. They send thousands of these scams out hoping for just a few to bite the bait. You did.

Do scammers really post your sextortion video if you don't pay?

How do I know if a threat from a scammer is real or not? I was talking to a "t;guy" and once I figured out he was a scammer I blocked him. He now sends me emails threatening to send the pictures I sent him to my social media followers.

Everybody get so now and then some unwanted emails. To blackmail you with sending nudes is so stupid, nobody is getting nervous for some nudes nowadays.

Thirdly report the blackmail to the police.

Originally Answered: So I just got catfished and sent private pictures to a scammer, and they sent them to people I follow and are asking for money. What do I do?

I don't have enough money to pay but I don't want the scammer to send my pictures to people either.

So I was chatting with someone on Snapchat and we chatted for a while and ended
